

Duties of Pharmacy Technicians and Pharmacy Technician Trainees In Class C (Hospital) Pharmacy

Duties	Duties that may be performed in hospitals with 101+ beds with physically present supervision by a pharmacist	Duties that may be performed in hospitals with 100 beds or less with physically present supervision by a pharmacist	Duties that may be performed in hospitals with 100 beds or less with electronic supervision by a pharmacist	Duties that may be performed by a technician and checked by another technician in hospitals with on-going clinical pharmacy programs and that have applied to TSBP and received approval for Tech-Check-Tech	Duties that may be performed by technicians in rural hospitals when a pharmacist is not presenting a rural hospital that has applied to TSBP and received approval for rural hospital provisions
Pre-package and label unit and multiple dose packages	YES	YES	NO	NO	NO
Prepare, package, compound, or label prescription drugs pursuant to medication orders	YES	YES	YES	NO	YES
Compound batch preparations	YES	YES	NO	NO	NO
Distribute routine orders for stock supplies to patient care areas	YES	YES	YES	YES	YES
Enter medication order and drug distribution information into a data processing system	YES	YES	YES	NO	YES
Load unlabeled drugs into an automated compounding or counting device	YES	YES	NO	NO	NO
Access and restock automated medication supply systems	YES	YES	YES	YES	YES
Compound non-sterile preparations	YES	YES	YES	NO	NO
Compound low-risk sterile preparations (after completing the required 40 hour training)	YES	YES	YES	NO	NO
Compound medium-risk and high-risk sterile preparations (after completing the required 40 hour training)	YES	YES	NO	NO	NO
Fill medication carts	YES	YES	YES	YES	YES

Pharmacy technicians/trainees may perform the duties listed above provided the technicians/trainees have been properly trained, a pharmacist verifies the accuracy of any duty performed, and the technicians/trainees are under the direct supervision of a pharmacist except as noted above for approved rural hospitals. Individuals that are certified pharmacy technicians but are not registered with the Texas State Board of Pharmacy, may NOT perform any of the duties listed above.